Living Life with Love

Sacred Era

Personal note from Jeanette: I recently uncovered my anger towards God and realized I needed to reconnect with my religion. When I understood that it was not my responsibility to heal my daughter, I let the anger go and started listening to my spiritual guide again. We need to share Love to defeat hunger, war, and poverty. SacredEra.com

January 1, 1985, Jeanette and her partner sold nine houses in one day. Jeanette's going to break that record January 1, 2008 for SaveThisHouse.TV.

Jeanette Fisher, America's Dream Home Maker

The London Times called Jeanette "America's Home Selling Queen." A former university instructor and leading researcher in interior design psychology, Jeanette is the author of best selling real estate books on home staging and flipping houses, interior design textbooks, and over 500 articles including encyclopedia, magazine, and online content. A frequent radio show guest, she has been on television several times and is filming eleven episodes of Save This House in 2008.

Bamboo Women

Gatherings, events, teleseminars, member website celebrating women, sisterhood, and business
Some species of Bamboo spend three to thirty years growing a firm foundation of roots. After years of percolating under hard-packed dirt, bamboo roots give birth to a tender green shoot. Without protection or nourishment, some shoots never develop. Protected shoots reach six feet or more in sixty days! Give us 60 days and watch your green shoots soar!
